

Noopur Gangopadhyay, MD, FAAP

Dr. Noopur Gangopadhyay completed both her medical degree and a combined plastic surgery residency program at Washington University in Saint Louis School of Medicine. This was followed by two fellowships – the first in craniofacial surgery at The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center in Dallas and the second in reconstructive microsurgery at MD Anderson Cancer Center in Houston. Noopur is an attending surgeon and Associate Professor of Plastic Surgery at the Ann & Robert H. Lurie Children’s Hospital of Chicago and Northwestern University, where she serves as the Northwestern Plastic Surgery Residency Associate Program Director and the Clinical Practice Director for the Division of Pediatric Plastic Surgery. She is also a college mentor for the Class of 2025 medical students at the Feinberg School of Medicine. Her clinical interests include cleft lip and palate surgery, craniofacial surgery, pediatric microsurgery, vascular malformations, orthoplastic reconstruction and peripheral nerve. She holds leadership roles in several plastic surgery societies, including The American Cleft Palate-Craniofacial Association, The American Council of Academic Plastic Surgeons, The American Society of Plastic Surgeons, The American Society of Reconstructive Microsurgery and The Plastic Surgery Research Council. Noopur has special interests in medical education for medical students and residents, leadership and career development for female surgeons and diversity and equity in plastic surgery.
