

Samuel J. Lin, MD
Boston, MA

Samuel Lin, MD, MBA, is Program Director of the BIDMC/Harvard Medical School Plastic Surgery Residency Programs, Fellowship Director of the Harvard Aesthetic Fellowship at BIDMC, and Associate Professor, Harvard Medical School. He is double boarded with training in Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery and Plastic Surgery at Northwestern before completing a microsurgery fellowship at M.D. Anderson Cancer Center. He received an MBA at Massachusetts Institute of Technology Sloan School of Management in 2015. He has had past NIH R01 funding, a prior AAPS Academic Scholarship grant, PSF National Endowment Grant, multiple foundation grants, SBIR funding, and currently is funded by the Department of Defense. He has over 240 peer-reviewed publications which include multiple Nature manuscripts, Science, and Proceedings of the National Academy of Science manuscripts. He is on regular NIH Study Sections and the current Outcomes Section Editor for the journal Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery. He has mentored numerous residents, medical students and research fellows.